Dear Paul

Please include the RCL document as a recordal of RCL's perspective of the meeting- which was done contemporaneously at the meeting, and immediately after the meeting. The document also includes issues of discussion and suggestion.

Kind regards

Dear Aldine

Thank you for the cost estimate.

In terms of the minutes, ACER arranged the meeting with RCL which was held on 12 November 2015. ACER prepared the minutes from the meeting and distributed these for comment and acceptance. Notwithstanding, you have distributed another document that is not a minute of the meeting but appears to be a summary of your notes and conclusions on some of the material presented. In the circumstances you are kindly asked to reserve your document for your own purposes and provide comment on the draft ACER minutes. The ACER minutes prepared were written contemporaneously and we believe reflects all agreements and resolutions, together with a clear statement of action to be taken where relevant, together with the person responsible, and does not include unnecessary comment or discussion. The ACER minutes can then be confirmed either by round robin or at another subsequent meeting and stand as a record of the meeting. Two sets of “minutes” cannot be included in the project record and besides can never contribute to consensus building.

Regards
Paul

Dear Paul

Please find attached the summary of the discussions of the meeting held on the 12 November 2015 as recorded by RCL.

Whilst your minutes record the findings of Acer’s investigations up to the date of the meeting, RCL is not in agreement with findings as reflected in RCL’s summary attached. It is recorded that further investigations need to be undertaken in a number of areas.

RCL also records the discussion in more detail. Where there are conflicts between the two RCL obviously stands by its recordal.

Please also find attached a costing relating to the closing in of House L14 in order to endeavour to mitigate light and dust interference of the birds.

Kind regards
